AND his name was . . . : !?

THE damage that GOEBEL did to Kentucky will not be overcome by the best efforts of the next generation.

THE gentleman who sent in a notice yesterday stating that the party died from "information" of the stomach, may consider himself immune.

ONE of the means used in "advertising Louisville" is the statement by a local paper that 6 murders were committed there and over 1,000 arrests made by the police during the month of July.

FOR fear that Louisville will "go to seed" entirely under the rule of the gang, notice has been sent out imposing a penalty of $25 on every person who doesn't cut the weeds growing in the street opposite his property.

CHICAGO has a new Chief of Police, and one of his first official acts was to raid a gambling den and scoop in forty tinhorn sports. Why doesn't he hit the big joints and thereal gamblers, where people are robbed of millions in imaginary grain deals?

WHEN CALEB POWERS is tried in the Federal Court, the $100,000 Blood Money Fund will be no longer an inducement for the Tom Campbells and the Noaks and Goldens and Weavers. In fact, Uncle Sam's Court offers a mighty poor field for the rascally lawyer and the professional perjuror.

In words Teutonic, "the mighty have fallen down now."

WHAT a beautiful set of "grafters" has Goebelism fastened on the taxpayers of Kentucky.

THE teamsters strike is gradually dying out at Chicago, but they are getting a good ready for the walkout of typestickers, which is scheduled for January 1st, 1906.

IT is matter of regret that the names of some people unavoidably find their way into THE LEDGER. I am a bit particular about the names that are honored by appearing in these columns.

ANOTHER evidence of the rapidly departing glory of Goebelism in high places is found in the refusal of Governor BECKHAM to reappoint the late Senator GOEBEL's aide-de-camp on the State Election Commission.

THE Shelby County Fiscal Court has ordered that a vote be taken at the coming November election on the question of issuing $75,000 worth of bonds for the purpose of erecting a new Courthouse at Shelbyville. And here stands Old Mason, with Twentieth Century prosperity and a First Century "shack."

UNDESIRABLE immigrants from all parts of Europe are pouring into the United States in greatly increased numbers; and it remains to be seen whether the coming Congress will have the courage to pass "exclusion laws" affecting powerful European countries, the same as are now enforced against China, which is supposedly weak.

The fellow got it cashed from Frank Fichter for $2, and then hired a rig from Frank Boyd to go to Georgetown, Mr. Boyd sending a driver. Thomas Guilfoyle has leased his store at the corner of Bridge and Third and sold the stock to John O'Connell of Carlisle, who will conduct the business at the old stand.

A Warning to Mothers.

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If this does not check the bowels, give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipiency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence, even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by all druggists.

THE KENTUCKY TURKEY

Maysville Furnishes the "Real Thing" For Dainty Diplomats

Louisville Herald.

Not doves, but turkeys, does old Kentucky offer the peace envoys of Russia and Japan. Not in all this wide world is there to be found a turkey so delicious as the swell Kentucky bird of feasting and felicity. The piece de resistance at christening repast, the princely dish at bridal dinner, the crown charming and delightful of family gatherings at the fine old homestead's hospitable board, the Kentucky turkey is in truth the very king of domestic fowls. Ohio has turkeys large and luscious; Indiana raises turkeys that are the joy of gastronomes; Tennessee's turkey product is rich and rare; but Kentucky's turkey has every point of excellence possessed by his brother fowl of Ohio, Indiana, Tennessee and other states with several distinctive Kentucky qualities besides.

The Kentucky turkey feeds on that diet of the gods, Kentucky corn; it refreshes itself on the rich bluegrass, and quenches its thirst with the soft descending dews of Kentucky's happy skies. It has the air of prosperity, contentment and richness inseparable from Kentucky surroundings and nurture.

The Kentucky turkey's fame has traveled to far-off Moscow and has been sung in Tokio. The Czar has heard it from Grand Duke, the Mikado from titled and trusted envoy.

Thoughtful and thrifty as New Englanders are generally recognized, the Portsmouth (N. H.) hotel man who is to feed the peace envoys of the two great Eastern Empires looked at his map of the United States. On old Kentucky first fell his discriminating glance. From Kentucky, he declared, should come the turkeys.

The Campmeeting Board holds its annual meeting today. They are all encouraged at the result of the meetings.

The Mothers' Meetings are now held daily in the old Preachers' tent, number 37, instead of in the different cottages.

dozen three-months old bronze turkeys. No trouble or delay filling such an order in that region. The turkeys have been shipped, packed in ice, and at the very first banquet to the envoys will make a hit. In no brain-fuddling vodka will Kentucky's health be drunk, but in the nectar that hails from the same soil which produced the turkey to tickle ambassadorial palates.

To the turkey as well as to the vintage of dear Kentucky the grateful earth bears genuine homage. This old world knows, after its thousands of years of experience, just where to put its hand on the heat. Kentucky raises the best or nothing.

RUGGLES CAMPGROUNDS

Helpful Meetings Now in Progress at This Delightful Place

Correspondence Public Ledger.

RUGGLES CAMPGROUNDS, August 2d, 1905.

Tuesday was another ideal day for old Ruggles. The crowds still increase and interest in the services improves each day. Probably no services have proved so profitable in every way as those of the afternoon, conducted by Dr. Hanford. He has endeared himself to all by his interesting and optimistic sermons.

Rev. H. C. Northcutt, Father of Ruggles Campmeeting, arrived yesterday and is being warmly welcomed by all. Brother Northcutt's interest in this place increases with the years.

Mrs. C. E. Choate and little son spent Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. J. H. Dodson.

Rev. J. R. Howes was called away suddenly Tuesday, much to the regret of all.

Rev. George Froh, Pastor of the Washington M. E. Church, South, is here for a few days and will preach this morning.

The Campmeeting Board holds its annual meeting today. They are all encouraged at the result of the meetings.

The Mothers' Meetings are now held daily in the old Preachers' tent, number 37, instead of in the different cottages.

POOR PLAYING

The Main Feature of Yesterday's Game of Baseball

The high-class ball playing of the day before was instrumental in attracting an exceptionally large crowd to the Ball Park yesterday afternoon to witness the second game between the Reds and the Georgetown aggregation.

Dinger was in the box for the home team, and up to the sixth inning his pitching was superb and all that could be desired.

At that time the score stood 9 to 1 in favor of the Reds, and it looked as though it was a walkover for the home boys; but the unexpected is liable to happen at any stage in a ball game, and here's where the Reds got it in the neck had.

When the fusilade was over the Georgetown had scored five times.

From that on the game was soggy and of an amateurish character.

In the windup the score stood 10 to 9 in favor of Maysville.

Two Ministers of Veedersburg, Ind., Rev. A. W. Gehres and Rev. W. K. Richardson, bid in a boxcar for the purpose of learning if the saloonkeepers were violating the law. On leaving the car the Divines were attacked by two saloonkeepers and a fierce fight followed. Mr. Gehres and Mr. Richardson administered a severe drubbing to their assailants; but isn't that a nice business for Preachers to engage in?

Nothing has been heard of P. L. Luster, whose wife was found dead Friday night at Guthrie. A map was found in Luster's room on which several Canadian towns were marked, and it is now believed he fled to Canada.

The Louisville Forge Company, capital $25,000, manufacturers of car axles, has gone into liquidation at that place. The company was organized six years ago and leased the plant of the Louisville Steam Forge Company. Captain G. W. Lawrence, General Manager of the Kentucky River packet, Falls City, will be invited to meet the members of the Business Men's Club which are trying to establish a steamboat line between the headwaters of navigation on the Kentucky river and Cincinnati.
